

EXPLORING THE COMMANDMENTS: PART FOUR

Bible Text: Matthew 6:19-21

Lesson Focus: We honor God when we are content with what we have and help others keep what they have.

Big Question: Other people have so much more; how am I supposed to be grateful for what I have?

Key Words: CONTENTMENT, COOPERATION, ALTRUISM, BENEVOLENCE

BIBLE CONNECTION

- ] God doesn't want us to try to get stuff that isn't ours.
- ] The Ninth Commandment is about coveting "stuff."
- ] The Tenth Commandment is about coveting "living things."
- ] Coveting other people's possessions tells God that God hasn't provided enough for us.
- ] No matter how old we get, we still act like small children (or the seagulls on Disney's Finding Nemo)—MINE! MINE!
- ] Everything we have is a gift from God—and is WAY more than we deserve.
- ] Since God has given us so many gifts, the natural response is to share what we have with others, not try to get what isn't ours in the first place.
- ] Luther's last written words were "We are beggars." Indeed.

CARTOON CONNECTION

- ] Do you think that avoiding (or just not looking at) things we might covet is a good way to follow these commandments?
- ] How is gossiping about someone to get them out of your group of friends related to coveting?
- ] How is intentionally forgetting to return something you borrowed related to coveting?

STUDENT BOOK CONNECTION

- ] What's the hardest part of temptation?
- ] What is the hardest temptation to avoid?

LIFE CONNECTION

As sinners, we want as much stuff as possible. Sometime this week on a piece of paper, make a "wish list" of things you'd like to have. Think beyond physical possessions. Turn the paper over and make a list of all the things you have that you're thankful for. This might be a little more difficult. See if you can put as many things on your "thankful list" as you have on your "wish list."
